The Pastor Speaks

IS THIS ALL THERE IS?

Singer Peggy Lee in the year 1969 had a hit song entitled "If That's All There Is". It was nominated as one of the top tunes of the year. The question that she raises is no old question. The conclusion which she reaches is no old conclusion. She says in her song that if this life is really all there is, then let's enjoy it while we are here and take no thought for what lies beyond. Here are a few of her words, "I fell in love with the most wonderful boy in the world . . . One day he went away, and I thought I'd die. But I didn't , and when I didn't I said to myself, is that all there is to love? . . .

I know what you must be saying to yourself, 'If that's the way she feels about it, why doesn't she just end it all?' Oh, no, not me, I'm not ready for that final disappointment. 'Cause I know, just as well as I'm standing here talking to you, that when that final moment comes and I'm catching my breath, I'll be saying to myself, 'Is that all there is?' If that's all there is, my friend, then let's keep dancing. Let's break out the booze and have a ball, If that's all there is."

Peggy Lee raises the question. She doesn't answer it. Only Christianity gives a full and solid answer to this question. Is this life all there is? Only in Christianity do we find a hearty resounding "No". The resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, as every testified to and witnessed by over five hundred people, is a living evidence of the fact that this life isn't all there is. Because this life isn't all there is, it behooves us to live in preparation for the life beyond. We are to live lives of sincerity, earnestness, and godliness in preparing for the life beyond.

The conclusion of it all is this, "And so, brothers of mine, stand firm, let nothing move you, as you busy yourselves in the Lord's work. Rest assured in your hearts that nothing you do for him is ever lost or ever wasted." (I Cor. 15:58)

Because nothing you do for the Lord is ever missed or wasted, covenant with him to do all things wisely for his sake.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ADAM AND EVERYMAN

Lesson for July 26, 1970

Background Scripture: Genesis 3; Luke 15:11-32; Romans 1 through 3.
Devotional Reading: Romans 3:9-22a.

Man has it made! Just take a look at the scoreboard:

– created in the image of God
– God's greatest and highest creation
– appointed to have dominion over all God's creation
– blessed with the power to be "fruitful; and multiply"

Who could ask for anything more?

The Other Side Of Man

But that isn't the whole story, is it? We know that in addition to man's divine potentialities there is another side to his nature, a side which gives us far less cause to be optimistic.

Let us remember once again that in these early chapters of Genesis we are concerned primarily with the whole of creation, rather than the how. This is also true in the story of Adam and Eve. It is not just the story of the first man and woman, but much more the story of every man and woman. The name "Adam" itself means "man" or "mankind." Thus, it is not simply the story of some distant fellow, but the story of you and me and all of us.

Biblical scholar Bernhard Anderson suggests that the story of Adam is composed of three dramatic episodes, like scenes in a play. Each of these helps to formulate an answer to the question, "What is man?"

Scene 1 – Adam the Gardener (Genesis 2:4-25). Adam and Eve are placed in a beautiful garden that supplies all their needs. They have a God-given task – they are to faithfully keep and tend the garden entrusted to them (just as all men have the God-given task of tending the whole of creation which has been entrusted to them.)

Today man is still dependent upon God's gifts. All that we have – food, clothing, shelter, family, love – all these come from God's hands. Like Adam we have a stewardship in this world and, also like Adam, there are certain restrictions which He has laid upon us.

Too Good To Last

Scene 2 – Adam the Fugitive (Genesis 3:1-7). "It was too good to last," we might say. The wonderful picture of Adam the gardener was bound to be marred by something, and it was.

We all know the story of what happened in the garden. Much more to the point, however, is that we realize that this too is our story. Though Eve had a whole garden of trees from which to pick fruit, her appetite and temptation led her to the one tree from which she had been forbidden. Isn't that true of us too? It is not because God hasn't given us much to fulfill our needs, for no matter how well we are supplied with the gifts, we always seem to want the one more he has forbidden to us.

Eve disobeyed God because she wanted to step into God's shoes. She wasn't satisfied with being just another one of God's creatures – even the highest of them – she wanted to stand on the same level as God. That's our problem too. Our rebellion is just as willful as Eve's, just as deliberate.

Scene 3 – Adam the Fugitive (Genesis 3:8-24). It is inevitable that the rebel becomes the fugitive. Like Adam, we seek to hide when we hear God's voice, but we find that we cannot hide from him. It is then that his judgment falls upon us and we lose the peaceful life in the garden. When Adam is driven out of the garden it is everyman who sets out on the journey of Paradise Lost.

Thus, life is full and insecure, and man named Adam is driven because every man rebel against the God we look at him, know who we are.

Rivermont Esso Downs Kings

Mkt. 7-4

Rivermont Esso #1 beat Kings Market 7-4 last Thursday night in a Class A softball game played in Lynchburg. They are now 3-0 while Kings dropped to 1-2 for the second half in the won-lost column.

Kings scored first in the first inning when Buddy Wilcox tripled and Jimmy Mayberry homered, Rivermont tied it up in the third on a two run homer by Bill Booker and took the lead in the fourth when they added one more run. They added four more in the fifth as Booker again homered, this time with three men on, and had a 7-2 lead. Kings had a rally in the fifth but only scored two runs and left the bases loaded.

Garland Haynes, Bill Booker, Herb Duff, M. Cox and Wood led Rivermont with two hits each.

Buddy Wilcox was the only Kings Market man with more than one hit. He had two.

Rivermont banged out 14 hits while Kings managed 10 hits.

Enrollment Up 59% At CVCC

Virginia's 13 community colleges served 30,341 different students during the 1969-70 academic year, an increase of 33 per cent over the previous year, according to a report released by the State Department of Community Colleges.

This is a 301 percent increase over the total different student enrollment in 1966-67, the first year the Virginia Community College System was in operation. That year 7,573 students were served by two community colleges and five area vocational-technical schools.

A sizable enrollment percentage increase was reported by Central Virginia, Lynchburg, from 1,193 to 1,899, up 59%.

Station Operator Wins Coin Plaque

A special award has been presented to Cecil B. Rickmond, operator of Rickmond's Phillips 66 Station in Appomattox.

The award, a plaque bearing two rare silver dollars, two Kennedy half-dollars, and a specially minted commemorative coin set in an automotive engine design, was presented for exceptional customer service by a representative of The Gates Rubber Company.

The Denver-based rubber company sponsors a nation-wide (now in its 38th year) to reward service station personnel who provide exceptional customer service. A fleet of "Gates Mystery Cars" regularly travels across the country stopping at service stations. Each "Mystery Car" has a worn fan belt. Award plaques are presented to station personnel who notice the defective belt and offer to replace it.

This is the fourth such award Rickmond has won. He also wears a "Good Neighbor Award" patch on his Phillips 66 shirts – given to him because of his concern for the public and company by passing motorists.

VEPCO Adjusts Billing Rates

The Virginia Electric and Power Company announced today that, in response to inquiries to the company and the State Corporation Commission, the company is refining its procedure for placing the new electric rates into effect beginning July 1, 1970.

Adjustments will be made to assure that only electricity used on and after July 1 will be billed at the new rates, Customers who receive bills that include consumption before July 1 will be given a refund, plus interest at 6 per cent per annum, in the form of a credit on their first bill after the close of the summer billing season.

The refund will be measured by a daily prorate between the periods before and after the beginning of July 1. Analogous procedure will be applied to the close of the summer billing period on October 31. In future years the bills for service in the summer billing period will be based on meter readings taken in July through October.
